Overview

These business buyers have signed up for new phone or VoIP service and other telecommunication products and services, thus demonstrating their readiness to buy innovative technology that makes sense for their growing companies.

Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP), is a technology that allows users to make telephone calls using a broadband Internet connection instead of a regular landline. It's a fast, cost-efficient way to start dialogs, sustain business relationships, and prospect for new customers.

With the increasing trend of people starting their own businesses, this market is an excellent target for a variety of offers, including business credit cards, office supplies and products, web and Internet services, insurance, seminars, travel, software and computer products, financial offers, and more.

Tap into this highly responsive group of small businesses eager for new offers that can boost their profitability.
